ADMINISTRATION WARY OF BRYAN; COMMONER HAS 'EM ALL GUESSING

PALMER MEN SEEK COALITION WITH COX DELEGATES TO KEEP M'ADOO FROM GRABBING THE BACON

MEREDITH GENERAL CHOICE OF ALL

By ED. L. KEEN

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—As the zero hour approaches, multiplied that the Administration leaders are going to have a real fight or several of them in their efforts to obtain control of the Democratic National Convention. So far Bryan has been successfully masking his operations and ostensibly his main objective is the wet and dry issue in which the Administration is not greatly concerned. Regarding the League of Nations, which President Wilson considers the one vital question, Bryan is preparing for an attack. By emphasizing his determination to get a dry plank in the platform he apparently aims to give the impression to his newspaper audience that the League as well as the other issues on which he is at variance with the Administration are of minor importance.

Administration folks are becoming wary and are watching carefully for the first indication of a Bryan assault against the League plank of the Virginia platform on which will be based the Administration's platform and the National platform. Meantime the Administration's stronghold here is being considerably reinforced with heavy artillery. There will be five cabinet members on the ground. Besides Attorney General Palmer there will be Secretary of State Cully, Secretary of the Navy Daniels, Postmaster General Barleson and Secretary of Agriculture Meredith.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Efforts are on foot to form a coalition between the Palmer and Cox forces to prevent the nomination of McAdoo. Emissaries from the Palmer headquarters called on E. H. Moore Cox's manager, George White, one of his chief lieutenants and Charles E. Norris, Cox's private secretary. They suggested an alliance and intimated that it might be regarded as preliminary to a later alliance. It was pointed out by Governor Cox's friends that the McAdoo forces, being leaderless, were therefore unable to make a "protective deal". The matter rested for the time being. In Cox's camp there was talk of naming Secretary of Agriculture Meredith for the vice presidency. Meredith is a candidate for the Presidential nomination. Cox's men said that Meredith would be a good second man whether Cox was nominated or not. Meredith would draw the farm vote and would be a great publicity getter because of his association with advertising agencies.

McAdoo's friends conferred here last night and early today in an effort to determine how to proceed since McAdoo has announced that he would not permit his name to be presented to the Convention. Mrs. Antonette Funk, who has been in charge of the McAdoo campaign here, said that his name would not be presented without his consent. "We will undoubtedly abide by Mr. McAdoo's decision," Mrs. Funk said.

Wm. C. McAdoo's friends here today announced they will refuse to abide by his expressed wishes to place his name before the Democratic National Convention. "McAdoo's name will be presented as well as the names of the other candidates," said Samuel C. Amidon, of Kansas who has assumed the leadership of the McAdoo forces. This decision was reached at a conference attended by all leading boosters here.

HARDING WORKING ON ACCEPTANCE SPEECH

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Senator Harding is rapidly compiling the data on the major issues to be touched on in his speech accepting the Republican Presidential nomination. That Harding is trying to arm himself against the use of large sums of money in his campaign was made apparent today during his conference with Wm. Boyce Thompson, head of the National Republican Ways and Means Committee. After talking with Harding, Thompson limited the contributions to $1,000.

CLEARFIELD SAW FIRST BASEBALL 54 YEARS AGO

When Clearfield Team Gave Philipsburg Walloping by a Score of 52 10 40

AND THEY FOUGHT ABOUT IT

Baseball in Clearfield will be 54 years old on Tuesday, July 5th, according to the best recollection of W. E. and H. P. Wallace, A. B. Reed, A. J. Hagerly, H. W. Smith and other "original" Clearfielders, who were here and witnessed the first game ever played in this region and which occurred on July 5, 1866. Of the players engaging on that day in what has since proven to be America's most popular sport and the National pastime, Huxthal W. Smith, of Locust street, is the sole survivor.

The publication in The Progress of the story of a couple of the first games of baseball played in Clearfield in August 1866, created a great deal of comment among the old timers and by reason of such talk we learned that the late Major D. W. Elzweiler, father of Mrs. M. A. Buchanan, of Third street, was the man who first introduced baseball to Clearfield or Clearfielders to baseball.

Major Elzweiler was Prothonotary of Clearfield county at the time and while in Philadelphia on a business trip in June 1866, he purchased a baseball and bat and book of rules governing the game of baseball which had been popularized by the boys in the army camps of the Civil War. Bringing these articles home to Clearfield.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF QUICK WAGE AWARD MAY NOT WARD OFF RAILROAD STRIKE

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Government officials here today still feared a sudden strengthening of the unauthorized railroad strike between mid-night tonight and Monday morning despite the statement of railroad leaders at Chicago that the promise of the Railroad Labor Board to make the wage award July 20 was acceptable. First evidence of the Railroad Labor Board's definite promise of the wage award reached the White House previous to the word of a general strike set for tonight. Immediately following the warning, J. P. Tumulty, secretary to President Wilson and Secretary of the Interior Payne, who is acting Rail Director, went into conference at the White House. They conferred long after word came from railroad leaders at Chicago that there would probably be a general walk out.

ERIE, June 26.—About 250 switchmen and yardmen "went on vacation" here this morning "until the Railroad Labor Board hands down its wage scale decision." Three roads are affected. The Penna., claiming only 20 per cent. of their men were at work and the New York Central with the largest force in the city with only 2 per cent. at work.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Railroad workers met secretly here today and decided to quit work at ten o'clock tonight unless ordered to call off their walk out by higher officials of the railroad unions according to men attending the meeting. Reports were again circulated that a nation wide strike would be called at ten o'clock tonight unless the Railroad Labor Board makes a more definite promise as to the wage award. Government officials said they knew nothing of the strike and said that they had the information that the men would stay at work as the result of the promise of the Railroad Labor Board to hand down its decision July 20. Brotherhood officials were also silent as to these reports.

CHICAGO, June 25.—Decision on the demands of railroad employees for wage increases will be made on or before July 29 by the Railway Labor Board, Judge R. M. Barton, chairman, said in a statement late today. The award would be retroactive to May 1, the statement said.

According to W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and spokesman for union leaders who gathered here today, the board's declaration would end all danger of a general railroad strike.

The railway board's statement declared an agreement on a method of working out the wage problems had been arrived at and that no time would be lost in reaching a conclusion.

AIR MAN RODE FROM BELLEFONTE TO N.Y. ON WING OF PLANE

Pilot Hopson, of the local air mail service who last Tuesday established a high flight record by flying from New York to Bellefonte at an altitude of 16,000 feet, again added to his reputation for daring, by flying from Bellefonte to the Newark, N. J., field on Saturday, seated on the wing of a mail plane.

It seems that it was Pilot Hopson's turn to take the mail to Newark on Saturday afternoon, but he was denied the privilege by Supt. Doane, who had given orders that Pilot Robinson should take it. Mr. Doane came here last week to assume the duties of Field Manager M. J. Kelly while the latter is on his vacation. Pilot Hopson evidently did not take kindly to the idea of being kept in Bellefonte over Sunday, as he had urgent business in New York, and he decided to get there in some manner and chose the most expedient he could think of. Gaining permission of Robinson to allow him to accompany him on the plane, Pilot Hopson donned his aviation clothes.

From the fact that there was room for only one person in the pilot's pit, and the receptacle for mail being entirely filled, there was nothing left but the wings on which to ride. Nothing daunted, Pilot Hopson stretched himself on one of the wings as the plane started. The machine rose gracefully from the field and soared over town, Pilot Hopson being in full view of hundreds of spectators as he stood on the wing. As the plane turned eastward he sat down, and with only a few guy wires, about one-sixteenth of an inch in thickness, by which to hold, he began the journey of over two hundred miles. Hopson was only clothed in the regulation "monkey suit" and was exposed to a biting wind, but it seemed not to worry him, for he was still on the wing when the plane landed safely on Heller Field, Newark, at a little after five o'clock.

JUDGE MCCARRELL'S DEATH SOON FOLLOWS THAT OF COLLEAGUE

HARRISBURG, June 25.—Judge S. J. M. McCarrell of the Dauphin County Courts, died at his home here today aged 77. This is the second vacancy caused by death on the Dauphin county bench in the past month, President Judge George Kunkel having preceded his colleague of many years by less than three weeks.

Judge McCarrell was a native of Washington county, where he was born October 19, 1842, a son of the Rev. Alexander McCarrell, a Presbyterian minister. He served, when a student of Washington College, where he was later graduated, as a volunteer in the Civil War and afterward taught in Linsley Institute, Wheeling, W. Va. In 1866 he was admitted to the bar of Dauphin county and later became prominent in Republican politics. He served two terms as district attorney, two as United States district attorney and from 1892 to 1909 in the State Senate, having been president pro tempore of that body from 1895 to 1897.

He was a delegate to a number of state and national conventions and in 1907 was elected additional law judge of Dauphin county, an office he held until his death. For more than 40 years he was superintendent of the Market Square Presbyterian Sunday School and active in Presbyterian circles.

He leaves a widow who was a sister of the late U. S. Senator William A. Wallace, of Clearfield, and a brother, the Rev. T. C. McCarrell, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church at West Mifflin, Pa.

Four Day Program of Praise And Festivities Planned By The Centenary Committee

HISTORICAL SKETCH OF PASTORS

Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday will be festal days in the Presbyterian church of Clearfield. They will be days of great rejoicing and thanksgiving and every member of the church is looking forward to them.

On these days, June 27th, to 30th, inclusive the Presbyterian Church of Clearfield will celebrate its one hundredth anniversary and a beautiful program has been mailed to all members. This folder contains some very interesting history from which we quote in this article. We are pleased to print the program as well.

The early records of the Presbyterians in this community are very limited and meager, almost all of them having been destroyed by a fire. But we have evidence that as early as the year 1803, by the direction of the Presbytery of Huntingdon, there was preaching of the Presbyterian doctrine in this region by the Rev. William Stewart and the Rev. Henry R. Wilson. Just where they preached is not known. Again in 1812, the Rev. William Stewart of Center County, and the Rev. James Linn of Bellefonte, preached in Bloom's barn, situated near Susquehanna Bridge. There is very little known of the actual organization of this congregation further than that in the year 1818, Archibald Shaw and Hugh Jordan were ordained and installed as ruling elders; and as elders can only be ordained and installed over a congregation, their organization establishes the time of the beginning of this congregation, some time in the year 1818. Our celebration of that fact would have been held two years ago but for the intervention of the World War. Under their auspices of Elders Shaw and Jordan, intermittent services were held in Clearfield, presumably in the Old Court House. The Church began to take regular form about the year 1825, and a call was extended to the Rev. Gary Bishop who was installed as pastor in 1826 and served until 1834, when he resigned. They were without a regular pastor from that time until the year 1839, when the Rev. Frederick G. Betts was installed as pastor of this congregation in connection with one at Curwensville, and his records which are more complete than any of the other early ministers, show that he served in many other localities, traveled hundreds of miles each year on horse back and suffered many vicissitudes and struggles in his effort to minister to the people.

The first Church edifice in the community, a plain square frame building, fifty by sixty feet, was erected during Rev. Betts' ministry in 1841 and utilized by other denominations as well, for some time. It stood on the same site as our present Church until the year 1867, when it was removed to make way for the new one. Mr. Betts' arduous struggles were too exhausting for his strength and he died in 1835 at the early age of thirty three years. He was followed by the Rev. Samuel N. Howell, in 1846, who filled the office for two years. The Rev. Miles T. Merwin, the next pastor, was called in December, 1847 and served until 1851. He was succeeded by the Rev. Samuel M. Cooper in 1851, who served until 1857. There is not much known of the pastorates of these last three ministers. The Rev. John M. Galloway, of Steubenville, Ohio, was installed as pastor in July 1857. Mr. Galloway conducted a school in the old Academy in connection with his ministry. He served until he died in April, 1865.

The Rev. James G. Archer was then called, and assumed the pastorate in June, 1865, coming directly from Princeton Seminary. He was a young man, a southerner, with an attractive manner and lovable disposition, and filled the office with marked ability and success. Coming here just at the close of the Civil War, and working through the period of reconstruction which followed that war, much the same conditions prevailing as we are passing through the days, his efforts were blessed and well crowned with success. The Church expanded and grew rapidly and through his influence the present handsome Church structure was undertaken and almost completed, at an expenditure of over Forty One Thousand Dollars, a truly wonderful accomplishment when the size of the congregation and community are considered, showing a fine self sacrificing spirit and magnificent display of liberal generosity and breadth of vision that is remarkable. They were a mere handful of strong men banded together to honor their Maker by building a suitable house in which to worship Him, and thereby erected a monument to themselves, worthy of our pride and admiration.

To the Honorable William Bigler, who devoted much time, energy and substance to it, we owe much of the success of that undertaking. He, with Mr. Archer, watched and guided its progress daily, and had indeed it seemed that when almost completed and ready for occupancy, Mr. Archer should be suddenly removed by death, which occurred in a railroad accident at Ash-tabula, Ohio, in January, 1869.

A call was then extended to the Rev. Henry S. Butler, a former classmate of Mr. Archer at Princeton, who was installed on June 20th, 1869. His installation was combined with the dedication of the new Church building and it was a memorable event in the life of the congregation. It was the beginning of a new era, not only in

That DuBois traffic cop is sure to get results if they let him alone and he continues to have the punch.

Mr. Hoover would make an excellent United States Senator. His views on Article Ten are precisely the same as those of the senators who refuse to ratify the covenant because of the rat.

No newspaper feature in months has come anywhere near creating as much interest as the account published yesterday of a baseball game played here over a half century ago. Today's article on early baseball is even more interesting.

Our feature column "With the County Agent" is proving popular. We want it distinctly understood that this column belongs to the farmer and we invite any farmer in the county to contribute his ideas to this column.

The Democratic platform will be the child of necessity. Anything and everything that can be promised to catch votes will be included. Promises, though, in the light of past performances by the Wilson administration, are very weak hooks on which we can hang our votes. It is one thing for a party to formulate a platform but an altogether different thing to carry it out.

Why is it necessary that decisions affecting the industrial and commercial welfare of the nation have to be delayed until damage is done and unrest is created? It will be recalled that President Wilson did not name the Railroad Wage Board until the Brotherhoods brought pressure upon him and the announcement that the award would be announced on July 20th was not forth coming until the rail men were disgusted with the delay. Our governmental agencies are responsible for a great deal of our trouble because of their slow functioning.

In justice to ourselves we present the following facts to our readers as shedding some light on the costs of producing a newspaper. We have weighed up a year's edition of The Progress and find that, at the present cost of paper, it is costing us $5.55 for paper alone in a year's subscription. We can hardly be accused of profiteering when we ask $6 a year for The Progress by mail. By carrier, we are selling The Progress at $6.24 a year. The paper costs us $5.55 and delivery costs us four cents a week or $2.08 a year—a total cost of $7.63—a loss of $1.33. The DuBois, Lock Haven, Ridgway and other papers in this state have been charging fifteen cents a week for over a year. Will Clearfield people be fair enough to give us the same? We believe you will when you understand the situation and take into consideration the fact that we have kept the cost down thus far.

Why Despotism Irks.

We bow to the government of God but we turn against the despot. No man likes to share in the shipwreck of a vessel in which he has been embarked by violence, and which has been steered contrary to his wish and opinion.—Amiel.

Jud Tankins.

Jud Tankins says farming has become such a scientific proposition that a man has to learn to use more different kinds of tools than he does in a golf game.

A Good Trencherman.

The phrase originated at the time when people ate their food off trenchers. These were usually clean white wood, probably maple, and were often hollow on both sides, so that meat could be served on one side and pudding on the other.

Aspiration.

An aspiration is a joy forever, a possession as solid as a landed estate, a fortune which we can never exhaust and which gives us year by year a revenue of pleasurable activity.—Robert Louis Stevenson

the church, but in the community; for that year brought us our first railroad, the Tyrone & Clearfield; bringing with it many new people and complex problems. The Church and her people, ever in the forefront of affairs, took on new growth and assumed its proper place in the community. Dr. Butler, a very earnest and devout man, provided himself the type of pastor for the situation, and most successfully ministered to and guided his people until he was called and accepted a charge at Blairtown, N. J., in March, 1884.

The Rev. Russell A. McKinley, of Bedford, Iowa, was called, and accepting was installed on September 1st, 1884. Dr. McKinley being a man of great personal energy, could not be content to confine himself to this work alone, and did a great deal of field missionary work in the surrounding county. Through his efforts the Pine Grove Presbyterian Church was built, and established, where he ministered, preaching every Sunday afternoon, as well as preaching twice in the Church here. Also a chapel was built at Leedsville. It was during his ministry that the church elected to support a missionary in a foreign field, and in 1892, Rev. E. A. Simcox and his wife were sent to China as representatives of this congregation, where they remained until the Boxer Uprising in 1901, and they, with their children, were massacred. Dr. McKinley's love for the West, caused him to resign and accept a call to the Presbyterian Church at Steubenville, Ohio, in 1894.

Rev. John M. Waddell, of Dravosburg, Pa., was then called, and was installed on October 21st, 1894. His earnest Christian spirit and quiet, dignified manner, along with the fine personnel of his family, won the heart of everyone and made a deep and lasting impression on the congregation and community. During his successful ministry, the lot and old Manse were sold and a new brick Manse erected on lot adjoining the Church, and the Sabbath School room was renovated and greatly enlarged to meet the needs of the rapidly growing Sabbath School. These improvements involved the expenditure of some Seventeen Thousand Dollars, cheerfully subscribed and paid by the congregation.

In 1901, our missionaries were so cruelly massacred, and there was for a time some grave doubts expressed of the advisability of continuing along the same lines; but Dr. Waddell's missionary spirit refused to allow the good seed sown to die out, and the Rev. E. W. McDowell was engaged to represent us in Van, Turkey, and he is still doing a wonderful work. At the same time we assumed the charge of a mission field in the Northwest, and are still carrying on a work there through the Rev. Eugene A. Ballis, Sabbath School Missionary at Garfield, Washington.

Dr. Waddell resigned in Nov. 1904 to accept a call to the Presbyterian Church at Doylestown, Pa.

The Rev. N. H. G. Pife, of Bloomington, Ill., was invited to come as a supply for six months. He accepted and came January 1st, 1905; but after a short sojourn with us in that capacity, the mutual relations between pastor and people were so agreeable, that he was easily prevailed upon to remain longer, and he was regularly installed as pastor on May 17, 1905, and continued with the same mutual good feeling and confidence on the part of both through a highly successful pastorate of five years. During his term of service the Church underwent extensive alterations and repairs. The auditorium was enlarged and embellished, new pews and art glass windows, new lighting and heating systems and a new pipe organ, added, costing in all about Twenty-seven Thousand Dollars. Again her people gladly assumed the burden and paid for it. Dr. Pife resigned on January 2nd, 1909, leaving the church in a highly prosperous and satisfactory condition.

He was succeeded by Rev. Dr. E. C. Reeve, the present incumbent, who was called from the Presbyterian Church at Tacony, Pa., and was installed in April, 1909. His eleven years of service have been fruitful, bearing evidence of faithful, earnest work, shown in the large additions to the membership of the church and Sabbath School.

During the past year the congregation was again called upon for liberal contributions for freeseed and painting and other improvements. They responded as usual with a hearty good will to the amount of Eleven Thousand and Five Hundred Dollars.

A kind Providence has richly blessed this Church in all its lines of endeavor; in the type of men sent to lead it; in its officers and the fine personnel of its members. Through God's personal guidance and mercy, it has always gone forward, keeping fully abreast of the times, making a conservative steady growth, occupying an enviable position in the life and

When you stop to consider that we have the 20 per cent. reduction beaten all ways---that nearly all our reductions are greater than the popular twenty per cent. wave that's sweeping the country.

There are values here that are little short of sensational and you're missing the greatest bargains of the year if you don't come in and take advantage of them.

We, who are so blessed with this rich heritage of one hundred years of noble achievement and fine tradition; of which we are justly proud, should take a lesson from it, and, imploring Divine guidance, seek, not only to maintain, but go forward to the accomplishment of still greater things, as we fully believe, this church and congregation are destined to do.

Ladies! Darken Your Gray Hair

Look years younger! Use Grandmother's recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur and nobody will know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair turned that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But knowing at home it was a hard out of date. Nothing, by a simple endeavor, in the type of men sent to lead it; in its officers and the fine personnel of its members. He came in a big car, and seemed disappointed, madame, that you were not here and not expected. A very well-spoken gentleman, and we'd have thought nothing of it except that a few days later I caught a man I was sure was the same party, but dressed in rough clothes, sneaking across the veranda right there where you're sitting. When I called to him he ran as hard as he could, and Graves—his vegetable gardener—saw him leaving the property by the back way."

"It's hardly possible that a man who impressed you as a gentleman when you saw him at the door should have returned in disguise and tried to break into the house."

"Oh," exclaimed Mrs. Farnsworth, "it would be so much more delightful if that were true! Any one in disguise is bound to be interesting. A disguise suggests most beautiful possibilities."

I could not be sure in the dim light of the veranda, but I thought I detected a white slipper cautiously reach out and touch a black one. At any rate, Mrs. Farnsworth leaped into silence.

"Thank you very much, Antoine," said Alice. "It is very proper for you to tell me anything of any stranger on the property, but I see nothing here to be alarmed about. If the same gentleman calls again, let me know instantly."

"Very good, madame." And then, turning as though conferring upon me a part of his responsibility for the security of the premises: "It's a party with a limp; just a trifling limp, sir; you'd hardly notice it. A smallish man, rather dark, with a little mustache turned up at the ends."

"I have noted those details, Antoine," I replied; and again I thought there was a telegraphic exchange between the ladies though this time a black slipper was the means of communication.

Torrence arrived in a moment, and nothing has ever given me keener joy than his shock of surprise at beholding Mrs. Bashford. I was devotedly grateful that he had not been present at the dinner table, for my own efforts to interest Torrence in anything but the most practical matters had always been highly unsuccessful, and the discussion of ghosts and witches would hardly have amused him. As Mrs. Farnsworth and I took up the recent movements on the western front I overheard Torrence putting all the machinery of the trust company at Mrs. Bashford's disposal. It seemed almost a blasphemy to be talking of income and like matters to a woman like Alice Bashford!

"They continued their conference for some time, but I got nothing out of Mrs. Farnsworth that shed any light on my aunt's history beyond what she had told me herself, which was precious little. Mrs. Farnsworth's talk was that of a cultivated woman. Her voice interested me unaccountably; the tones had all manner of shadings and inflections. It was curiously musical, but in speaking of the great war a passionate note crept into it that stirred me deeply."

"This has been a dark year for Alice," she remarked. "Mr. Bashford's death, followed quickly by that of her brother, an only son—piled a cruel burden of grief upon the dear child. She wants to go back to England to nurse the wounded, to do anything for our dear country, but I want to keep her here a little while until she can readjust herself. It is my task to encourage her in frivolties and the make-believe she loves; hence our absurdities at the table. She's the dearest child, but with wonderful understanding. And at times it's not easy to keep the divine spark of play alive in her heart."

The light of one of the porch lamps fell upon Alice's face as she patiently gave heed to Torrence's account of his stewardship. One of her hands gently stroked the front of her lap, as if in a chair beside her. I was sure that her painstaking description of assets and market values was forcing her close her voice rose in exasperation. Torrence, I judged, was suggesting that legal means could be found to expel the old Tyngsboro employees from the Barton property.

"Oh, never in the world!" It was quite like Mr. Bashford to want to care for these people in that old age. And she laughed and turned toward me. "Why don't he disengage while Bob lives, and I don't want to part with a close friend?"

I was glad to have her ask her address in this matter, for I had already ascertained in the desire to check him.

"I don't know where he is," I said. "I don't know where he is," I said. "I don't know where he is," I said.

wasn't sure you meant to stay on. Pardou me, but I didn't."

"Oh, it isn't that Bob hasn't a right to stay," said Alice quickly; "Mrs. Farnsworth and I are hoping that he will like us well enough to share our exile on other accounts."

"I am engaging Mr. Singleton to explain American jokes to me," announced Mrs. Farnsworth. "Alice seems to get them, but I'm never sure."

It is a part of Torrence's business to counsel widows, which he does like the honorable man he is, but as he rose to go presently, remarking that his wife would motor down to call shortly, I caught a glimpse of his face that indicated deep perplexity. I left when he did.

"I want to talk to you," he said nervously when we were outside. "I'll send the car ahead to the gate."

When the shrubbery cut us off from the house he stopped abruptly and seized my arm. "What do you make of it?" he demanded.

"Make of what?" I asked.

"That girl!" he exclaimed testily. "If you insist, I must avow that she's adorable, nothing else."

"Don't be a fool! You knew Raymond Bashford much better than I did, and you know perfectly well he never married a young girl of that sort! Those women are playing a trick, and I'm surprised that you don't see through it."

"My uncle was a man of taste and a gentleman," I answered deliberately. "There's nothing in the least improbable in his being infatuated with a young woman of charm and wit like this girl."

"I tell you it won't do," he insisted. "If either of those women at the house is Raymond Bashford's widow, it's the one who calls herself Farnsworth. They're playing a game of some kind, and it's no laughing matter, but it won't take long to find out what they're up to."

"You'll hardly go the length of having them arrested as imposters, Torrence—not without some data to work on."

"Certainly not. You seem to be hitting it off with both of them, but I advise you to be on guard. Are you sure your uncle never sent you his wife's photograph? That would have been a perfectly natural thing to do."

"If I'd got a photograph, I should have headed for Japan, not for France," I laughed, but I was thinking deeply. His line of reasoning as to the incongruity of the marriage was not so different from my own that I could swear at his suspicions. I shrank from telling him that I didn't care a hang whether the widow was a fraud or not. If the two women who had settled themselves on the Barton estate were imposters, they were extraordinarily daring and clever.

We were nearing a gateway where his car waited, and I saw several of the guard hanging about at a discreet distance. "Look here, Singleton," he said angrily, "you don't seem to take this business very seriously. You don't want to make the mistake of letting a pretty girl pull the wool over your eyes." He lowered his voice and added:

"Those Women Are Under Suspicion." "Those women are under suspicion of something more serious than an attempt to rob an estate. An agent of the state department called on me yesterday and asked embarrassing questions about Mrs. Bashford. Not a secret service man, you understand, or anything of that kind, but an important man in the state department."

WITH THE COUNTY AGENT

STATE WOOL CLIP TO BE SOLD COOPERATIVELY

STATE COLLEGE, PA., June 26.—Co-operative wool sales have come to stay. The great interest that is being shown by sheep men in the marketing of the 1920 clip is ample proof that the co-operative selling of wool last year, promoted by extension men of the Pennsylvania State College, was a great success, and that a large percentage of the wools will be marketed in a similar manner in the future.

Last year 190,000 pounds of wool were marketed collectively by the fifteen county organizations in Pennsylvania. A check on the pools shows that more than $13,000 additional was placed in the pockets of the growers than if they had marketed in the usual way. Better prices this year will greatly increase this return.

At the present time there are between 400,000 and 450,000 pounds of wool signed up to be marketed collectively in Pennsylvania, and as marketing time approaches, new men are joining the associations. All the county associations that will have 20,000 or more pounds of wool are renting a warehouse, and will have the wools graded in the county. The old system of marketing was unsatisfactory, because the man who fed and cared for his sheep properly and put up a good, clean fleece received no encouragement. By selling on its market grade a premium is placed on clean, well-grown wools and the grower who is careless discovers that it costs from fifteen to twenty-five cents per pound to collect seed and chaff.

Those associations that are unable to rent a warehouse for the grading of their wool, consign their product to a commission house and receive an individual grade on each clip. The associations having only a small amount of wool sell on a flat basis ungraded.

MARRIED

A very pretty home wedding was solemnized at the home of Mrs. Geo. H. Hall at Hyde today when her grand daughter, Miss Genevieve Miriam Long, became the bride of Mr. John J. Swan of Philadelphia.

The ceremony was performed at eleven o'clock by the Rev. W. W. Hartman of Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, in the presence of the immediate families. The beautiful double ring service of the church was used. Miss Lela Hall, aunt of the bride, played Mendelssohn's wedding march, accompanied on the violin by Sarah Louise Heisey. The bride was attended by Anna Hall as flower girl.

Miss Long has been a successful teacher in the Johnsstown public schools for the past six years and Mr. Swan is employed as an instructor by the New York Ship Building Corporation of Camden, N. J.

The happy couple left on the 1:15 train and will be at home to their friends at 3023 Hazel avenue Philadelphia, on August 1.

Successful Author.

Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett was earning a small wage as a school teacher in Tennessee when she began to write. It is said that the stamps with which her first story was sent to the magazines were earned by picking blackberries. Years later, when the author of "Little Lord Fauntleroy" was at the zenith of her popularity as author and playwright, her annual income was estimated to be from $50,000 to $75,000.

Mocha Sheepskin.

The world's supply of Mocha sheepskin is claimed by about a dozen buyers, who have their native collectors, in caravans to collect the skins at various centers, of which Mocha, Berbera, Zeylah and Hodeidah are the main ports. From there they are sent to Aden, a British coaling station, where, on account of its location, is the shipping point for skins sent to London, the continent of Europe, and the United States.

But Enough There, Too.

When a bull gored a man the other day the first telephoned report set down that the victim was "gored by a bull" and died. The police theory at the time was that he had perished at a political meeting.—London Opinion

Albums were originally whiteboards used in Rome for displaying public notices.

ROSS & WOODS

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS CURWENSVILLE

Mrs. W. L. Dule has been on the sick list at her home on North Walnut street for several days past.

There has been considerable grumbling and growling about the paved streets by men who have been compelled to haul loads over the streets for the past few days.

Rev. and Mrs. Earl Bergerstock arrived in Curwensville and are now visiting in the home of Mrs. Bergerstock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Baugher.

On Wednesday the second game of the schedule inaugurated by the American Legion base ball clubs, was played at Morrisdale between Curwensville and Morrisdale. The members of the Earl Sipes' Test 505 returned home defeated by a score of 7 to 3. This is Curwensville's second game and a side defeated in their second attempt, they feel very much encouraged that they are not going to come out at the little end of the horn at the final winding up of the long schedule which will require nearly all of the summer months to complete.

Mrs. C. S. Russell who has been spending some time visiting the family of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Patton at their Chester County farm, returned home Wednesday, being accompanied by her granddaughter, Miss Mary Gano, of West Point, who will remain in this neighborhood for some time.

Work is being slowly suspended in the mines along the river above the Pee Wees No. 1 owing to some difficulty arising between the operators and the miners relative to machine work.

WOODLAND

Children's Day was fittingly observed in the M. E. Church on Sunday evening. The services being in form of a cantata entitled "Carnival of Flowers," was well rendered by the children and young people of the Sunday School. The church was crowded to the doors.

Two distressing accidents occurred on our streets on Sunday. Angelo Swango while coming from Clearfield in his motor cycle on Sunday afternoon, in some manner was crowded to the side of the road and ran into the pile of gravel stone near the residence of Charles Snyder and was severely cut and bruised about the head and face. Scott Barger while returning home from church on Sunday evening was struck and knocked down by a car but fortunately was not severely injured. The affair was purely accidental as the streets were crowded with cars and people returning home from church. The young man driving the car was running slow but was blinded by the lights of a car coming in the opposite direction so that he did not see the people in front of his car.

G. M. Leach, H. O. Barger and J. J. Baker were on a business trip to Huntington and Bristol, Pa. Monday and Tuesday of this week.

Mrs. Richard Pike was shopping and visiting relatives in Clearfield on Wednesday.

Miss Anna Peters was a Clearfield hopper on Thursday.

Harry Varner and family have moved to their farm home for the summer, expecting to return to town again in the fall as is their custom.

Mrs. Robert Mitchell was shopping in Clearfield on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wagner and Mrs. Scott Barger were Clearfield hoppers on Wednesday.

Miss Valma Stine entertained a few little friends at her home on Thursday afternoon, it being the occasion of her eleventh birthday.

Charles Snyder of Lower Woodland is a patient in the Cottage State Hospital at Philadelphia.

Oliver Peters of Lower Woodland, who recently underwent a second operation in the Clearfield Hospital, is in a very serious condition we are sorry to learn.

The baseball boys went to Philadelphia on Thursday afternoon and played a game with the strong American Legion team of that place and were beaten by the score of 14-0. They go to Sandy Ridge on Saturday afternoon to play a return game with their team. We sincerely hope the tide will turn and they will have better luck this time.

Mrs. Hill, of Philadelphia, sister of T. T. Pickles, of Lower Woodland, Robert Pickles and Mrs. Ross Lambert of Clearfield, who is visiting her relatives in this part of the state, spent Sunday at the Pickle home in Lower Woodland.

Bruce Adams, Harvey Lamborn, Malcolm White, and Dick Karachner have returned after a few day's visit with friends in Lock Haven.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Nelson, on Fourth street, yesterday, a fine girl baby. Mother and daughter getting along finely.

Shells Color Ocean's Beaches.

A curious change of color with the tide is noted in the beaches of Sunlit Island in the Gulf of Mexico. The natural golden color of the sands is retained as the tide rises; but with the ebb of the tide the beaches become quite purple, a change that is due to the appearance of great numbers of tiny purple snails.

Indian Mound, Kansas City.

The Indian mound in the northeast part of Kansas city was built about 57,000 years ago, according to Edward part of Kansas City was built about who has made an exhaustive study of prehistoric mounds in the United States. This mound is one mile north of Sheffield on the high bluff overlooking the Missouri river and the valley of the Blue river. It is called Indian mound. It probably was a signal mound.

Nature's Busy Workers.

In the great office of nature there are innumerable departments with endless work going on, and the fine flower that you behold there, carefully attired and soiled like a dandy, is by no means what it appears to be, but rather is like a laborer toiling in the sun and shower, who has to submit a clear account of his work and has no breathing space to enjoy himself in a playful frolic.

Lower California Cattle.

In addition to cattle, many excellent mules are raised in Lower California. Horses are rarely used. The faithful burro is the principal means of transportation. Except for a few thousand in La Pienra, there are no domestic sheep in the country. In the southern part there are numerous flocks of goats. The largest cat ranch on the Pacific coast comprises almost 1,000,000 acres.

field resulted in the energetic, active Clearfielders of that time getting together and deciding to lay out a baseball field and trying the game out.

The fair grounds were located then on the Reed farm on South Second street and the late G. L. Reed, who was a surveyor, got out his instruments and laid out a diamond and playing field according to the diagram contained in the rule book purchased by Mr. Elzweiler with the ball and bat.

Every able bodied man and boy in the town took to the new game like ducks to water and soon H. W. Smith and several other fans sent to Philadelphia for bats and balls. Gloves, chest protectors, masks, spike shoes and other paraphernalia were unobtainable. Nobody had any spare time for anything but baseball.

The original score, which we have before us and which was kept by the late S. J. Row, shows that the first real game was played Monday, Aug. 27th, 1866. This score was given in Thursday's Progress. From that time until Nov. 18th, when the season ended, forty games were played between opposing teams made up of the business and professional men of the town, and from this fact alone one might be led to believe our forefathers found time for work and a great deal of time for play.

Our neighboring village of Philipsburg was also taking its maiden dip into the baseball pool about this time and by October 5, 1866, things had progressed to such a stage in both towns that it was decided to have a championship series and determine thereby whether Clearfield or Centre county produced the most expert ball tossers. The game was arranged for Clearfield on the afternoon of October 5th.

The Philipsburg team was styled the "Moshannon" Club and accompanied by a large number of rooters in wagons, buggies and on horseback made the 17 mile overland journey to Clearfield to meet our own who styled themselves the "Chinlacumose," that being the Indian name for Clearfield.

The two teams lined up as follows:

|                        | Outs | Runs |
|------------------------|------|------|
| J. P. Fairchild, c.    | 4    | 6    |

The umpire at this game was T. J. McCullough, while W. C. Foley, for Clearfield, and J. S. Funk, for Philipsburg, were "judges." S. J. Row was the official scorer for Chinlacumose and W. R. Fulton for Moshannon.

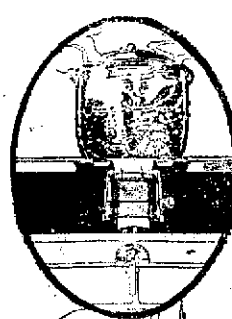

This game ended in a row, a dispute arising over a fly ball knocked by Adams and caught by J. B. Walters of the Clearfield team. Wagner of the visitors got into a scrap over it and the bad blood engendered interfered with the resumption of play.

The official scorer attached the following note to the margin of the page on which the score of the game was kept: "A dispute arose in reference to a fly ball knocked by No. 9 of Moshannon Club and caught by No. 8 of Chinlacumose, the former refusing to play out the game even after the latter yielded the point." Two men were out in the ninth inning when the dispute arose.

Scorer Row had a list of "abbreviations" or rules for scoring written down in his book and we give them herewith for the purpose of comparison with present day rules and to show the extra opportunity for dispute. They will also give present day umpires something to be thankful for. They were:

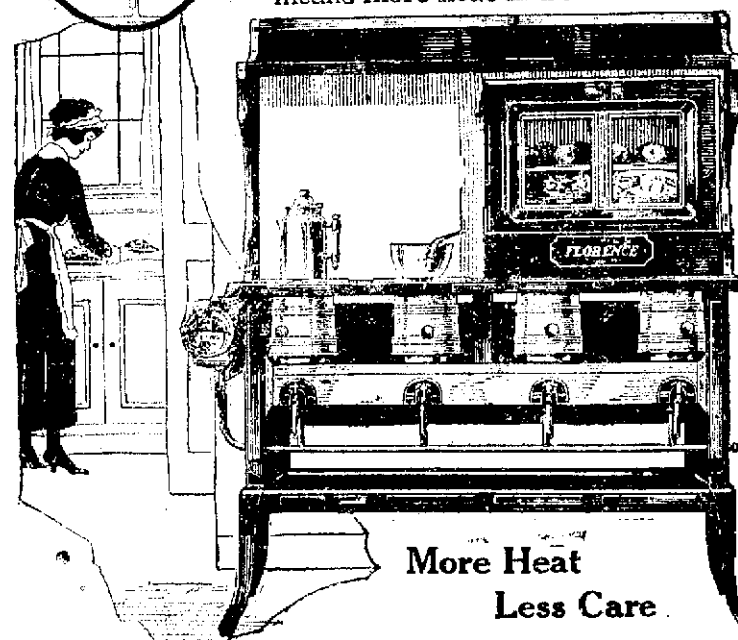

- A—for 1st base.
- B—for 2d base.
- C—for 3d base.
- H—for home base.
- P—for catch on the fly.
- D—for catch on the bound.
- L—for foul ball.
- T—for foul tip.
- K—for struck out.
- R—for run out between bases.
- HR—for home run.
- LT—for foul ball or fly.
- LD—for foul ball on bound.
- TF—for foul tip on the fly.
- TD—for foul tip on the bound.

MAN KITTY GORDON SHOT WILL RECOVER

CHICAGO, June 26.—Joseph A. Hack, a vaudeville actor, who was accidentally shot on a theatre stage here by Kitty Gordon, was out of danger today. Hack was standing in the wing and was shot in the right arm and side. Miss Gordon thought there were blank cartridges in her gun. Jack Wilson, Miss Gordon's stage manager, took the blame for the accident. He said he used the revolver when off the stage for protecting Miss Gordon's jewelry and had changed the shots for what he thought to be blanks. Hack, manager of an athletic act, said today he would sue Wilson.

SHORT ROUTE TO TYRONE

A very interesting meeting of prominent citizens of Tyrone, who are interested in good roads, and the commissioners of Blair county, Messrs. Jersuch, Selwitz and Murphy, with county Engineer David McCloskey, was held at the Arlington house where he present unfinished condition of that is known as the Janesville pike was discussed. The Blair county commissioners, about three years ago, built seven miles of this mountain road leading from Tyrone, leaving a little more than a mile to be completed to the Clearfield county line. Clearfield commissioners have yet four miles to build to complete the road. After the matter was discussed the commissioners and county engineer were conveyed by automobile, accompanied by D. S. Kloss and E. E. McCloskey to the Campbell place at the top of the mountain where, by arrangements made by Mr. McCloskey, they met the Clearfield county commissioners, Messrs. Dale, Weimer and Farrell, and the party proceeded to Madron, where plans were made for completion of the road, operations to commence about the middle of July. When done, this picturesque route from Tyrone to Janesville can be travelled by automobile in thirty minutes, while at the present time persons traveling the mountain road are compelled to go to Osceola and detour by way of Houtzdale.—Tyrone correspondent, in Altoona Mirror.

OFFICER KNOCKED DUBOIS CITIZEN FLAT ON HIS BACK

The spectacle of a special police

officer, stationed at the busiest corner of DuBois, hitting a citizen a wallop that knocked the last named flat on his back on the concrete pavement was witnessed yesterday afternoon when Special Officer Jefferys landed on George Willard with this result. Mr. Willard had come down the avenue in his car and it is alleged through a mixup of signals had come across the crossing before the officer had given en the signal. It is alleged that some words were exchanged at that time. Later Mr. Willard had gone in to the bank and transacted some business; he accosted the officer again and a few words were exchanged. Just what was said no one knows but the two themselves. Suddenly the officer hauled off with his fist and caught Mr. Willard on the point of the jaw, sending him to the pavement and jarring loose several teeth. The entire episode required only a moment and was so quickly over that not even a crowd was collected. It is probable that legal action will follow as a result of the incident.

John Maloney of Fourth street, who was recently operated upon for appendicitis at the Clearfield Hospital, is getting along finely at this writing.

ADMINISTRATION WARY OF BRYAN; COMMONER HAS 'EM ALL GUESSING

MEREDITH GENERAL CHOICE OF ALL

By ED. L. KEEN

United Press Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—As the zero hour approaches, multiplied that the Administration leaders are going to have a real fight or several of them in their efforts to obtain control of the Democratic National Convention. So far Bryan has been successfully masking his operations and ostensibly his main objective is the wet and dry issue in which the Administration is not greatly concerned. Regarding the League of Nations, which President Wilson considers the one vital question, Bryan is preparing for an attack. By emphasizing his determination to get a dry plank in the platform he apparently aims to give the impression to his newspaper audience that the League as well as the other issues on which he is at variance with the Administration are of minor importance.

Administration folks are becoming wary and are watching carefully for the first indication of a Bryan assault against the League plank of the Virginia platform on which will be based the Administration's platform and the National platform. Meantime the Administration's stronghold here is being considerably reinforced with heavy artillery. There will be five cabinet members on the ground. Besides Attorney General Palmer there will be Secretary of State Cully, Secretary of the Navy Daniels, Postmaster General Burleson and Secretary of Agriculture Meredith.

By L. C. MARTIN

United Press Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Efforts are on foot to form a coalition between the Palmer and Cox forces to prevent the nomination of McAdoo. Emissaries from the Palmer headquarters called on E. H. Moore Cox's manager, George White, one of his chief lieutenants and Charles E. Norris, Cox's private secretary. They suggested an alliance and intimated that it might be regarded as preliminary to a later alliance. It was pointed out by Governor Cox's friends that the McAdoo forces, being leaderless, were therefore unable to make a "protective deal". The matter rested for the time being. In Cox's camp there was talk of naming Secretary of Agriculture Meredith for the vice presidency. Meredith is a candidate for the Presidential nomination. Cox's men said that Meredith would be a good second man whether Cox was nominated or not. Meredith would draw the farm vote and would be a great publicity getter because of his association with advertising agencies.

McAdoo's friends conferred here last night and early today in an effort to determine how to proceed since McAdoo has announced that he would not permit his name to be presented to the Convention. Mrs. Antonette Funk, who has been in charge of the McAdoo campaign here, said that his name would not be presented without his consent. "We will undoubtedly abide by Mr. McAdoo's decision," Mrs. Funk said.

Wm. C. McAdoo's friends here today announced they will refuse to abide by his expressed wishes to place his name before the Democratic National Convention. "McAdoo's name will be presented as well as the names of the other candidates," said Samuel C. Amidon, of Kansas who has assumed the leadership of the McAdoo forces. This decision was reached at a conference attended by all leading boosters here.

HARDING WORKING ON ACCEPTANCE SPEECH

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Senator Harding is rapidly compiling the data on the major issues to be touched on in his speech accepting the Republican Presidential nomination. That Harding is trying to arm himself against the use of large sums of money in his campaign was made apparent today during his conference with Wm. Boyce Thompson, head of the National Republican Ways and Means Committee. After talking with Harding, Thompson limited the contributions to $1,000.

CLEARFIELD SAW FIRST BASEBALL 54 YEARS AGO

AND THEY FOUGHT ABOUT IT

Baseball in Clearfield will be 54 years old on Tuesday, July 5th, according to the best recollection of W. E. and H. P. Wallace, A. B. Reed, A. J. Hagerly, H. W. Smith and other "original" Clearfielders, who were here and witnessed the first game ever played in this region and which occurred on July 5, 1866. Of the players engaging on that day in what has since proven to be America's most popular sport and the National pastime, Hursthal W. Smith, of Locust street, is the sole survivor.

The publication in The Progress of the notes of a couple of the first games of baseball played in Clearfield in August 1866, created a great deal of comment among the old timers and by reason of such talk we learned that the late Major D. W. Elzweiler, father of Mrs. M. A. Buchanan, of Third street, was the man who first introduced baseball to Clearfield or Clearfielders to baseball.

Major Elzweiler was Prothonotary of Clearfield county at the time and while in Philadelphia on a business trip in June 1866, he purchased a baseball and bat and book of rules governing the game of baseball which had been popularized by the boys in the army camps of the Civil War. Bringing these articles home to Clearfield.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF QUICK WAGE AWARD MAY NOT WARD OFF RAILROAD STRIKE

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Government officials here today still feared a sudden strengthening of the unauthorized railroad strike between mid-night tonight and Monday morning despite the statement of railroad leaders at Chicago that the promise of the Railroad Labor Board to make the wage award July 20 was acceptable. First evidence of the Railroad Labor Board's definite promise of the wage award reached the White House previous to the word of a general strike set for tonight. Immediately following the warning, J. P. Tumulty, secretary to President Wilson and Secretary of the Interior Payne, who is acting Rail Director, went into conference at the White House. They conferred long after word came from railroad leaders at Chicago that there would probably be a general walk out.

ERIE, June 26.—About 250 switchmen and yardmen "went on vacation" here this morning "until the Railroad Labor Board hands down its wage scale decision." Three roads are affected. The Penna., claiming only 20 per cent. of their men were at work and the New York Central with the largest force in the city with only 2 per cent. at work.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Railroad workers met secretly here today and decided to quit work at ten o'clock tonight unless ordered to call off their walk out by higher officials of the railroad unions according to men attending the meeting. Reports were again circulated that a nation wide strike would be called at ten o'clock tonight unless the Railroad Labor Board makes a more definite promise as to the wage award. Government officials said they knew nothing of the strike and said that they had the information that the men would stay at work as the result of the promise of the Railroad Labor Board to hand down its decision July 20. Brotherhood officials were also silent as to these reports.

CHICAGO, June 25.—Decision on the demands of railroad employees for wage increases will be made on or before July 29 by the Railway Labor Board, Judge R. M. Barton, chairman, said in a statement late today. The award would be retroactive to May 1, the statement said.

According to W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and spokesman for union leaders who gathered here today, the board's declaration would end all danger of a general railroad strike.

The railway board's statement declared an agreement on a method of working out the wage problems had been arrived at and that no time would be lost in reaching a conclusion.

AIR MAN RODE FROM BELLEFONTE TO N.Y. ON WING OF PLANE

Pilot Hopson, of the local air mail service who last Tuesday established a high flight record by flying from New York to Bellefonte at an altitude of 16,000 feet, again added to his reputation for daring, by flying from Bellefonte to the Newark, N. J., field on Saturday, seated on the wing of a mail plane.

It seems that it was Pilot Hopson's turn to take the mail to Newark on Saturday afternoon, but he was denied the privilege by Supt. Doane, who had given orders that Pilot Robinson should take it. Mr. Doane came here last week to assume the duties of Field Manager M. J. Kelly while the latter is on his vacation. Pilot Hopson evidently did not take kindly to the idea of being kept in Bellefonte over Sunday, as he had urgent business in New York, and he decided to get there in some manner and chose the most expedient he could think of. Gaining permission of Robinson to allow him to accompany him on the plane, Pilot Hopson donned his aviation clothes.

From the fact that there was room for only one person in the pilot's pit, and the receptacle for mail being entirely filled, there was nothing left but the wings on which to ride. Nothing daunted, Pilot Hopson stretched himself on one of the wings as the plane started. The machine rose gracefully from the field and soared over town, Pilot Hopson being in full view of hundreds of spectators as he stood on the wing. As the plane turned eastward he sat down, and with only a few guy wires, about one-sixteenth of an inch in thickness, by which to hold, he began the journey of over two hundred miles. Hopson was only clothed in the regulation "monkey suit" and was exposed to a biting wind, but it seemed not to worry him, for he was still on the wing when the plane landed safely on Heller Field, Newark, at a little after five o'clock.

JUDGE MCCARRELL'S DEATH SOON FOLLOWS THAT OF COLLEAGUE

HARRISBURG, June 25.—Judge S. J. M. McCarrell of the Dauphin County Courts, died at his home here today aged 77. This is the second vacancy caused by death on the Dauphin county bench in the past month, President Judge George Kunkel having preceded his colleague of many years by less than three weeks.

Judge McCarrell was a native of Washington county, where he was born October 19, 1842, a son of the Rev. Alexander McCarrell, a Presbyterian minister. He served, when a student of Washington College, where he was later graduated, as a volunteer in the Civil War and afterward taught in Linsley Institute, Wheeling, W. Va. In 1866 he was admitted to the bar of Dauphin county and later became prominent in Republican politics. He served two terms as district attorney, two as United States district attorney and from 1892 to 1909 in the State Senate, having been president pro tempore of that body from 1895 to 1897.

He was a delegate to a number of state and national conventions and in 1907 was elected additional law judge of Dauphin county, an office he held until his death. For more than 40 years he was superintendent of the Market Square Presbyterian Sunday School and active in Presbyterian circles.

He leaves a widow who was a sister of the late U. S. Senator William A. Wallace, of Clearfield, and a brother, the Rev. T. C. McCarrell, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church at West Mifflin, Pa.

HISTORICAL SKETCH OF PASTORS

Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday will be festal days in the Presbyterian church of Clearfield. They will be days of great rejoicing and thanksgiving and every member of the church is looking forward to them.

On these days, June 27th, to 30th, inclusive the Presbyterian Church of Clearfield will celebrate its one hundredth anniversary and a beautiful program has been mailed to all members. This folder contains some very interesting history from which we quote in this article. We are pleased to print the program as well.

The early records of the Presbyterians in this community are very limited and meager, almost all of them having been destroyed by a fire. But we have evidence that as early as the year 1803, by the direction of the Presbytery of Huntingdon, there was preaching of the Presbyterian doctrine in this region by the Rev. William Stewart and the Rev. Henry R. Wilson. Just where they preached is not known. Again in 1812, the Rev. William Stewart of Center County, and the Rev. James Linn of Bellefonte, preached in Bloom's barn, situated near Susquehanna Bridge. There is very little known of the actual organization of this congregation further than that in the year 1818, Archibald Shaw and Hugh Jordan were ordained and installed as ruling elders; and as elders can only be ordained and installed over a congregation, their organization establishes the time of the beginning of this congregation, some time in the year 1818. Our celebration of that fact would have been held two years ago but for the intervention of the World War. Under their auspices of Elders Shaw and Jordan, intermittent services were held in Clearfield, presumably in the Old Court House. The Church began to take regular form about the year 1825, and a call was extended to the Rev. Gary Bishop who was installed as pastor in 1826 and served until 1834, when he resigned. They were without a regular pastor from that time until the year 1839, when the Rev. Frederick G. Betts was installed as pastor of this congregation in connection with one at Curwensville, and his records which are more complete than any of the other early ministers, show that he served in many other localities, traveled hundreds of miles each year on horse back and suffered many vicissitudes and struggles in his effort to minister to the people.

The first Church edifice in the community, a plain square frame building, fifty by sixty feet, was erected during Rev. Betts' ministry in 1841 and utilized by other denominations as well, for some time. It stood on the same site as our present Church until the year 1867, when it was removed to make way for the new one. Mr. Betts' arduous struggles were too exhausting for his strength and he died in 1835 at the early age of thirty three years. He was followed by the Rev. Samuel N. Howell, in 1846, who filled the office for two years. The Rev. Miles T. Merwin, the next pastor, was called in December, 1847 and served until 1851. He was succeeded by the Rev. Samuel M. Cooper in 1851, who served until 1857. There is not much known of the pastorates of these last three ministers. The Rev. John M. Galloway, of Steubenville, Ohio, was installed as pastor in July 1857. Mr. Galloway conducted a school in the old Academy in connection with his ministry. He served until he died in April, 1865.

The Rev. James G. Archer was then called, and assumed the pastorate in June, 1865, coming directly from Princeton Seminary. He was a young man, a southerner, with an attractive manner and lovable disposition, and filled the office with marked ability and success. Coming here just at the close of the Civil War, and working through the period of reconstruction which followed that war, much the same conditions prevailing as we are passing through the days, his efforts were blessed and well crowned with success. The Church expanded and grew rapidly and through his influence the present handsome Church structure was undertaken and almost completed, at an expenditure of over Forty One Thousand Dollars, a truly wonderful accomplishment when the size of the congregation and community are considered, showing a fine self sacrificing spirit and magnificent display of liberal generosity and breadth of vision that is remarkable. They were a mere handful of strong men banded together to honor their Maker by building a suitable house in which to worship Him, and thereby erected a monument to themselves, worthy of our pride and admiration.

To the Honorable William Bigler, who devoted much time, energy and substance to it, we owe much of the success of that undertaking. He, with Mr. Archer, watched and guided its progress daily, and had indeed it seemed that when almost completed and ready for occupancy, Mr. Archer should be suddenly removed by death, which occurred in a railroad accident at Ash-tabula, Ohio, in January, 1869.

A call was then extended to the Rev. Henry S. Butler, a former classmate of Mr. Archer at Princeton, who was installed on June 20th, 1869. His installation was combined with the dedication of the new Church building and it was a memorable event in the life of the congregation. It was the beginning of a new era, not only in

That DuBois traffic cop is sure to get results if they let him alone and he continues to have the punch.

Mr. Hoover would make an excellent United States Senator. His views on Article Ten are precisely the same as those of the senators who refuse to ratify the covenant because of the rat.

No newspaper feature in months has come anywhere near creating as much interest as the account published yesterday of a baseball game played here over a half century ago. Today's article on early baseball is even more interesting.

Our feature column "With the County Agent" is proving popular. We want it distinctly understood that this column belongs to the farmer and we invite any farmer in the county to contribute his ideas to this column.

The Democratic platform will be the child of necessity. Anything and everything that can be promised to catch votes will be included. Promises, though, in the light of past performances by the Wilson administration, are very weak hooks on which we can hang our votes. It is one thing for a party to formulate a platform but an altogether different thing to carry it out.

Why is it necessary that decisions affecting the industrial and commercial welfare of the nation have to be delayed until damage is done and unrest is created? It will be recalled that President Wilson did not name the Railroad Wage Board until the Brotherhoods brought pressure upon him and the announcement that the award would be announced on July 20th was not forth coming until the rail men were disgusted with the delay. Our governmental agencies are responsible for a great deal of our trouble because of their slow functioning.

In justice to ourselves we present the following facts to our readers as shedding some light on the costs of producing a newspaper. We have weighed up a year's edition of The Progress and find that, at the present cost of paper, it is costing us $5.55 for paper alone in a year's subscription. We can hardly be accused of profiteering when we ask $6 a year for The Progress by mail. By carrier, we are selling The Progress at $6.24 a year. The paper costs us $5.55 and delivery costs us four cents a week or $2.08 a year—a total cost of $7.63—a loss of $1.33. The DuBois, Lock Haven, Ridgway and other papers in this state have been charging fifteen cents a week for over a year. Will Clearfield people be fair enough to give us the same? We believe you will when you understand the situation and take into consideration the fact that we have kept the cost down thus far.

Why Despotism Irrks.
We bow to the government of God but we turn against the despot. No man likes to share in the shipwreck of a vessel in which he has been embarked by violence, and which has been steered contrary to his wish and opinion.—Amiel.

Jud Tankins.
Jud Tankins says farming has become such a scientific proposition that a man has to learn to use more different kinds of tools than he does in a golf game.

A Good Trencherman.
The phrase originated at the time when people ate their food off trenchers. These were usually clean white wood, probably maple, and were often hollow on both sides, so that meat could be served on one side and pudding on the other.

Aspiration.
An aspiration is a joy forever, a possession as solid as a landed estate, a fortune which we can never exhaust and which gives us year by year a revenue of pleasurable activity.—Robert Louis Stevenson

The Saver Reduces the Cost Of Living By Stimulating Production

Production in many lines has declined. It must be restored.

The man who practices saving naturally becomes a consumer of all resources. He saves products just as he saves money.

If you can not stimulate production you can save production which accomplishes the same end.

the church, but in the community; for that year brought us our first railroad, the Tyrone & Clearfield; bringing with it many new people and complex problems. The Church and her people, ever in the forefront of affairs, took on new growth and assumed its proper place in the community. Dr. Butler, a very earnest and devout man, provided himself the type of pastor for the situation, and most successfully ministered to and guided his people until he was called and accepted a charge at Blairtown, N. J., in March, 1884.

The Rev. Russell A. McKinley, of Bedford, Iowa, was called, and accepting was installed on September 1st, 1884. Dr. McKinley being a man of great personal energy, could not be content to confine himself to this work alone, and did a great deal of field missionary work in the surrounding county. Through his efforts the Pine Grove Presbyterian Church was built, and established, where he ministered, preaching every Sunday afternoon, as well as preaching twice in the Church here. Also a chapel was built at Leedsville. It was during his ministry that the church elected to support a missionary in a foreign field, and in 1892, Rev. E. A. Simcox and his wife were sent to China as representatives of this congregation, where they remained until the Boxer Uprising in 1901, and they, with their children, were massacred. Dr. McKinley's love for the West, caused him to resign and accept a call to the Presbyterian Church at Steubenville, Ohio, in 1894.

Rev. John M. Waddell, of Dravosburg, Pa., was then called, and was installed on October 21st, 1894. His earnest Christian spirit and quiet, dignified manner, along with the fine personnel of his family, won the heart of everyone and made a deep and lasting impression on the congregation and community. During his successful ministry, the lot and old Manse were sold and a new brick Manse erected on lot adjoining the Church, and the Sabbath School room was renovated and greatly enlarged to meet the needs of the rapidly growing Sabbath School. These improvements involved the expenditure of some Seventeen Thousand Dollars, cheerfully subscribed and paid by the congregation.

In 1901, our missionaries were so brutally massacred, and there was for a time some grave doubts expressed of the advisability of continuing along the same lines; but Dr. Waddell's missionary spirit refused to allow the good seed sown to die out, and the Rev. E. W. McDowell was engaged to represent us in Van, Turkey, and he is still doing a wonderful work. At the same time we assumed the charge of a mission field in the Northwest, and are still carrying on a work there through the Rev. Eugene A. Ballis, Sabbath School Missionary at Garfield, Washington.

Dr. Waddell resigned in Nov. 1904 to accept a call to the Presbyterian Church at Doylestown, Pa.

The Rev. N. H. G. Pife, of Bloomington, Ill., was invited to come as a supply for six months. He accepted and came January 1st, 1905; but after a short sojourn with us in that capacity, the mutual relations between pastor and people were so agreeable, that he was easily prevailed upon to remain longer, and he was regularly installed as pastor on May 17, 1905, and continued with the same mutual good feeling and confidence on the part of both through a highly successful pastorate of five years. During his term of service the Church underwent extensive alterations and repairs. The auditorium was enlarged and embellished, new pews and art glass windows, new lighting and heating systems and a new pipe organ, added, costing in all about Twenty-seven Thousand Dollars. Again her people gladly assumed the burden and paid for it. Dr. Pife resigned on January 2nd, 1909, leaving the church in a highly prosperous and satisfactory condition.

He was succeeded by Rev. Dr. E. C. Reeve, the present incumbent, who was called from the Presbyterian Church at Tacony, Pa., and was installed in April, 1909. His eleven years of service have been fruitful, bearing evidence of faithful, earnest work, shown in the large additions to the membership of the church and Sabbath School.

During the past year the congregation was again called upon for liberal contributions for freeseed and painting and other improvements. They responded as usual with a hearty good will to the amount of Eleven Thousand and Five Hundred Dollars.

A kind Providence has richly blessed this Church in all its lines of endeavor; in the type of men sent to lead it; in its officers and the fine personnel of its members. Through God's personal guidance and mercy, it has always gone forward, keeping fully abreast of the times, making a conservative steady growth, occupying an enviable position in the life and

The Crowd's Coming For 'Em!

When you stop to consider that we have the 20 per cent. reduction beaten all ways---that nearly all our reductions are greater than the popular twenty per cent. wave that's sweeping the country.

There are values here that are little short of sensational and you're missing the greatest bargains of the year if you don't come in and take advantage of them.

affairs of the community. We, who are so blessed with this rich heritage of one hundred years of noble achievement and fine tradition; of which we are justly proud, should take a lesson from it, and, imploring Divine guidance, seek, not only to maintain, but go forward to the accomplishment of still greater things, as we fully believe, this church and congregation are destined to do.

Ladies! Darken Your Gray Hair

Look years younger! Use Grandmother's recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur and nobody will know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair turned that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But knowing at home it was so good, out of date. Nothing, by a simple dash of Sage and Sulphur (the only) you will find of its kind. Through his famous preparation, he moved by the addition of other ingredients which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known down town druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has strand at a time. By morning the been applied. You simply dampen a gray hair disappears, and after around is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance.

Antoine had been hovering inside, and my remark brought him to the door.

"Beg pardon, Mr. Singleton, but that party is not an agent, but quite different, sir. He came to the house, quite like a gentleman, several times, and asked if Mrs. Bashford had arrived. He came in a big car, and seemed disappointed, madame, that you were not here and not expected. A very well-spoken gentleman, and we'd have thought nothing of it except that a few days later I caught a man I was sure was the same party, but dressed in rough clothes, sneaking across the veranda right there where you're sitting. When I called to him he ran as hard as he could, and Graves—his vegetable gardener—saw him leaving the property by the back way."

"It's hardly possible that a man who impressed you as a gentleman when you saw him at the door should have returned in disguise and tried to break into the house."

"Oh," exclaimed Mrs. Farnsworth, "it would be so much more delightful if that were true! Any one in disguise is bound to be interesting. A disguise suggests most beautiful possibilities."

I could not be sure in the dim light of the veranda, but I thought I detected a white slipper cautiously reach out and touch a black one. At any rate, Mrs. Farnsworth leaped into silence.

"Thank you very much, Antoine," said Alice. "It is very proper for you to tell me anything of any stranger on the property, but I see nothing here to be alarmed about. If the same gentleman calls again, let me know instantly."

"Very good, madame." And then, turning as though conferring upon me a part of his responsibility for the security of the premises: "It's a party with a limp; just a trifling limp, sir; you'd hardly notice it. A smallish man, rather dark, with a little mustache turned up at the ends."

"I have noted those details, Antoine," I replied; and again I thought there was a telegraphic exchange between the ladies though this time a black slipper was the means of communication.

Torrence arrived in a moment, and nothing has ever given me keener joy than his shock of surprise at beholding Mrs. Bashford. I was devotedly grateful that he had not been present at the dinner table, for my own efforts to interest Torrence in anything but the most practical matters had always been highly unsuccessful, and the discussion of ghosts and witches would hardly have amused him. As Mrs. Farnsworth and I took up the recent movements on the western front I overheard Torrence putting all the machinery of the trust company at Mrs. Bashford's disposal. It seemed almost a blasphemy to be talking of income and like matters to a woman like Alice Bashford!

"They continued their conference for some time, but I got nothing out of Mrs. Farnsworth that shed any light on my aunt's history beyond what she had told me herself, which was precious little. Mrs. Farnsworth's talk was that of a cultivated woman. Her voice interested me unaccountably; the tones had all manner of shadings and inflections. It was curiously musical, but in speaking of the great war a passionate note crept into it that stirred me deeply."

"This has been a dark year for Alice," she remarked. "Mr. Bashford's death, followed quickly by that of her brother, an only son—piled a cruel burden of grief upon the dear child. She wants to go back to England to nurse the wounded, to do anything for our dear country, but I want to keep her here a little while until she can readjust herself. It is my task to encourage her in frivolties and the make-believe she loves; hence our absurdities at the table. She's the dearest child, but with wonderful understanding. And at times it's not easy to keep the divine spark of play alive in her heart."

The light of one of the porch lamps fell upon Alice's face as she patiently gave heed to Torrence's account of his stewardship. One of her hands gently stroked the front of her lap, and in a chair beside her, I was sure that her painstaking description of assets and market values was boring her close her voice rose in exasperation. Torrence, I judged, was suggesting that legal means could be found to expel the old Tyngsboro employees from the Barton property.

"Oh, never in the world!" It was quite like Mr. Bashford to want to care for these people in that old age. And she laughed and turned toward me. "Why don't I disengage while Bob lives, and I don't want to part with a close friend?"

I was glad to have her at heart her address in this matter. I had on Torrence always insisted in the desire to check him.

"I don't know a thing about him," I said. "I don't know a thing about him."

wasn't sure you want to stay on. Par-don me, but I didn't."

"Oh, it isn't that Bob hasn't a right to stay," said Alice quickly; "Mrs. Farnsworth and I are hoping that he will like us well enough to share our exile on other accounts."

"I am engaging Mr. Singleton to explain American jokes to me," announced Mrs. Farnsworth. "Alice seems to get them, but I'm never sure."

It is a part of Torrence's business to counsel widows, which he does like the honorable man he is, but as he rose to go presently, remarking that his wife would motor down to call shortly, I caught a glimpse of his face that indicated deep perplexity. I left when he did.

"I want to talk to you," he said nervously when we were outside. "I'll send the car ahead to the gate."

When the shrubbery cut us off from the house he stopped abruptly and seized my arm. "What do you make of it?" he demanded.

"Make of what?" I asked.

"That girl!" he exclaimed testily. "If you insist, I must avow that she's adorable, nothing else."

"Don't be a fool! You knew Raymond Bashford much better than I did, and you know perfectly well he never married a young girl of that sort! Those women are playing a trick, and I'm surprised that you don't see through it."

"My uncle was a man of taste and a gentleman," I answered deliberately. "There's nothing in the least improbable in his being infatuated with a young woman of charm and wit like this girl."

"I tell you it won't do," he insisted. "If either of those women at the house is Raymond Bashford's widow, it's the one who calls herself Farnsworth. They're playing a game of some kind, and it's no laughing matter, but it won't take long to find out what they're up to."

"You'll hardly go the length of having them arrested as imposters, Torrence—not without some data to work on."

"Certainly not. You seem to be hitting it off with both of them, but I advise you to be on guard. Are you sure your uncle never sent you his wife's photograph? That would have been a perfectly natural thing to do."

"If I'd got a photograph, I should have headed for Japan, not for France," I laughed, but I was thinking deeply. His line of reasoning as to the incongruity of the marriage was not so different from my own that I could swear at his suspicions. I shrank from telling him that I didn't care a hang whether the widow was a fraud or not. If the two women who had settled themselves on the Barton estate were imposters, they were extraordinarily daring and clever.

We were nearing a gateway where his car waited, and I saw several of the guard hanging about at a discreet distance. "Look here, Singleton," he said angrily, "you don't seem to take this business very seriously. You don't want to make the mistake of letting a pretty girl pull the wool over your eyes." He lowered his voice and added:

"Those Women Are Under Suspicion."

Itself: "Those women are under suspicion of something more serious than an attempt to rob an estate. An agent of the state department called on me yesterday and asked embarrassing questions about Mrs. Bashford. Not a secret service man, you understand, or anything of that kind, but an important man in the state department."

"Of course you knew nothing to tell," I suggested.

WITH THE COUNTY AGENT

STATE WOOL CLIP TO BE SOLD COOPERATIVELY

STATE COLLEGE, PA., June 26.—Co-operative wool sales have come to stay. The great interest that is being shown by sheep men in the marketing of the 1920 clip is ample proof that the co-operative selling of wool last year, promoted by extension men of the Pennsylvania State College, was a great success, and that a large percentage of the wools will be marketed in a similar manner in the future. Last year 190,000 pounds of wool were marketed collectively by the fifteen county organizations in Pennsylvania. A check on the pools shows that more than $13,000 additional was placed in the pockets of the growers than if they had marketed in the usual way. Better prices this year will greatly increase this return.

At the present time there are between 400,000 and 450,000 pounds of wool signed up to be marketed collectively in Pennsylvania, and as marketing time approaches, new men are joining the associations. All the county associations that will have 20,000 or more pounds of wool are renting a warehouse, and will have the wools graded in the county. The old system of marketing was unsatisfactory, because the man who fed and cared for his sheep properly and put up a good, clean fleece received no encouragement. By selling on its market grade a premium is placed on clean, well grown wools and the grower who is careless discovers that it costs from fifteen to twenty-five cents per pound to collect and clean.

Those associations that are unable to rent a warehouse for the grading of their wool, consign their product to a commission house and receive an individual grade on each clip. The associations having only a small amount of wool sell on a flat basis ungraded.

MARRIED

A very pretty home wedding was solemnized at the home of Mrs. Geo. H. Hall at Hyde today when her grand daughter, Miss Genevieve Miriam Long, became the bride of Mr. John J. Swan of Philadelphia.

The ceremony was performed at eleven o'clock by the Rev. W. W. Hartman of Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, in the presence of the immediate families. The beautiful double ring service of the church was used. Miss Lela Hall, aunt of the bride, played Mendelssohn's wedding march, accompanied on the violin by Sarah Louise Heisey. The bride was attended by Anna Hall as flower girl.

Miss Long has been a successful teacher in the Johnsstown public schools for the past six years and Mr. Swan is employed as an instructor by the New York Ship Building Corporation of Camden, N. J.

The happy couple left on the 1:15 train and will be at home to their friends at 3023 Hazel avenue Philadelphia, on August 1.

Successful Author.

Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett was earning a small wage as a school teacher in Tennessee when she began to write. It is said that the stamps with which her first story was sent to the magazines were earned by picking blackberries. Years later, when the author of "Little Lord Fauntleroy" was at the zenith of her popularity as author and playwright, her annual income was estimated to be from $50,000 to $75,000.

Mocha Sheepskin.

The world's supply of Mocha sheepskin is claimed by about a dozen buyers, who have their native collectors, in caravans to collect the skins at various centers, of which Mocha, Berbera, Zeylah and Hodeidah are the main points. From there they are sent to Aden, a British coaling station, where, on account of its location, is the shipping point for skins sent to London, the continent of Europe, and the United States.

But Enough There, Too.

When a bull gored a man the other day the first telephoned report set down that the victim was "bored by a fool" and died. The police theory at the time was that he had perished at a political meeting.—London Opinion

Origin of the Album.

Albums were originally whiteboards used in Rome for displaying public notices.

LONDONDERRY QUIET MILITARY CONTROL COMPELS PEACE

DUBLIN, June 26.—Although the situation in Londonderry is calm today as a result of activities of British troops and authorities, outbreaks continued in other parts of Ireland. Reports were received of rioting in several Irish districts today. What appeared to be a concerted attack on Sinn Feiners occurred at Bantry where a man named Crowley was murdered by a crowd of masked men. Several shops and buildings were burned.

DAUGHTERS AND SON EJECTED FROM THEIR HOME

Sheriff German was in DuBois yesterday afternoon in the performance of a duty which he probably disliked doing just as heartily as a large number of neighbors disliked seeing the act performed. It was an ejection proceeding on South State street, the proceeding being brought by a father to dispossess his three children from his own home. The sheriff was compelled to carry out the orders of the law and the children were put out on the street.

Feeling in the neighborhood ran very high and great indignation was expressed against the father, but no hostile act was performed.

GRAMPIAN MAN MARRIES

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Isenberg of Alexandria, Huntingdon county, when their daughter, Miss Alice, was united in marriage to Mr. Fred D. Freeman of Grampania. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Chas. Levan of Alexandria, the ring ceremony being used. The bride is an accomplished young lady. The groom is a veteran of the late World War, having served 13 months over sea. They were attended by Mrs. G. E. Baker, of Altoona, a cousin of the bride, and Mr. Alfred Isenberg, a brother. After the ceremony a delightful wedding supper was served. A number of out of town guests and intimate friends of the family witnessed the ceremony.

ROSS & WOODS

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS CURWENSVILLE

Mrs. W. L. Dule has been on the sick list at her home on North Walnut street for several days past.

There has been considerable grumbling and growling about the paved streets by men who have been compelled to haul loads over the streets for the past few days.

Rev. and Mrs. Earl Bergerstock arrived in Curwensville and are now visiting in the home of Mrs. Bergerstock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Baugher.

On Wednesday the second game of the schedule inaugurated by the American Legion base ball clubs, was played at Morrisdale between Curwensville and Morrisdale. The members of the Earl Sipes' Test 505 returned home defeated by a score of 7 to 3. This is Curwensville's second game and a side defeated in their second attempt, they feel very much encouraged that they are not going to come out at the little end of the horn at the final winding up of the long schedule which will require nearly all of the summer months to complete.

Mrs. C. S. Russell who has been spending some time visiting the family of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Patton at their Chester County farm, returned home Wednesday, being accompanied by her granddaughter, Miss Mary Gano, of West Point, who will remain in this neighborhood for some time.

Work is being slowly suspended in the mines along the river above the Pee Wees No. 1 owing to some difficulty arising between the operators and the miners relative to machine work.

WOODLAND

Children's Day was fittingly observed in the M. E. Church on Sunday evening. The services being in form of a cantata entitled "Carnival of Flowers," was well rendered by the children and young people of the Sunday School. The church was crowded to the doors.

Two distressing accidents occurred on our streets on Sunday. Angelo Swango while coming from Clearfield in his motor cycle on Sunday afternoon, in some manner was crowded to the side of the road and ran into the pile of gravel stone near the residence of Charles Snyder and was severely cut and bruised about the head and face. Scott Barger while returning home from church on Sunday evening was struck and knocked down by a car but fortunately was not severely injured. The affair was purely accidental as the streets were crowded with cars and people returning home from church. The young man driving the car was running slow but was blinded by the lights of a car coming in the opposite direction so that he did not see the people in front of his car.

G. M. Leach, H. O. Barger and J. J. Baker were on a business trip to Huntington and Bristol, Pa. Monday and Tuesday of this week.

Mrs. Richard Pike was shopping and visiting relatives in Clearfield on Wednesday.

Miss Anna Peters was a Clearfield hopper on Thursday.

Harry Varner and family have moved to their farm home for the summer, expecting to return to town again in the fall as is their custom.

Mrs. Robert Mitchell was shopping in Clearfield on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wagner and Mrs. Scott Barger were Clearfield hoppers on Wednesday.

Miss Valma Stine entertained a few little friends at her home on Thursday afternoon, it being the occasion of her eleventh birthday.

Charles Snyder of Lower Woodland is a patient in the Cottage State Hospital at Philadelphia.

Oliver Peters of Lower Woodland, who recently underwent a second operation in the Clearfield Hospital, is in a very serious condition we are sorry to learn.

The baseball boys went to Philadelphia on Thursday afternoon and played a game with the strong American Legion team of that place and were beaten by the score of 14-0. They go to Sandy Ridge on Saturday afternoon to play a return game with their team. We sincerely hope the tide will turn and they will have better luck this time.

Mrs. Hill, of Philadelphia, sister of T. T. Pickles, of Lower Woodland, Robert Pickles and Mrs. Ross Lambert of Clearfield, who is visiting her relatives in this part of the state, spent Sunday at the Pickle home in Lower Woodland.

Bruce Adams, Harvey Lamborn, Malcolm White, and Dick Karachner have returned after a few day's visit with friends in Lock Haven.

Shells Color Ocean's Beaches.

A curious change of color with the tide is noted in the beaches of Sunlit Island in the Gulf of Mexico. The natural golden color of the sands is retained as the tide rises; but with the ebb of the tide the beaches become quite purple, a change that is due to the appearance of great numbers of tiny purple snails.

Indian Mound, Kansas City.

The Indian mound in the northeast part of Kansas city was built about 57,000 years ago, according to Edward part of Kansas City was built about who has made an exhaustive study of prehistoric mounds in the United States. This mound is one mile north of Sheffield on the high bluff overlooking the Missouri river and the valley of the Blue river. It is called Indian mound. It probably was a signal mound.

Nature's Busy Workers.

In the great office of nature there are innumerable departments with endless work going on, and the fine flower that you behold there, so carefully and so delicately made, is by no means what it appears to be, but rather is like a laborer toiling in the sun and shower, who has to submit a clear account of his work and has no breathing space to enjoy himself in a playful frolic.

Lower California Cattle.

In addition to cattle, many excellent mules are raised in Lower California. Horses are rarely used. The faithful burro is the principal means of transportation. Except for a few thousand in La Pienza, there are no domestic sheep in the country. In the southern part there are numerous flocks of goats. The largest cat ranch on the Pacific coast occupies almost 1,000,000 acres.

CLEARFIELD SAW FIRST BASEBALL 54 YEARS AGO

field resulted in the energetic, active Clearfielders of that time getting together and deciding to lay out a baseball field and trying the game out.

The fair grounds were located then on the Reed farm on South Second street and the late G. L. Reed, who was a surveyor, got out his instruments and laid out a diamond and playing field according to the diagram contained in the rule book purchased by Mr. Elzweiler with the ball and bat.

Every able bodied man and boy in the town took to the new game like ducks to water and soon H. W. Smith and several other fans sent to Philadelphia for bats and balls. Gloves, chest protectors, masks, spike shoes and other paraphernalia were unobtainable. Nobody had any spare time for anything but baseball.

The original score, which we have before us and which was kept by the late S. J. Row, shows that the first real game was played Monday, Aug. 27th, 1866. This score was given in Thursday's Progress. From that time until Nov. 18th, when the season ended, forty games were played between opposing teams made up of the business and professional men of the town, and from this fact alone one might be led to believe our forefathers found time for work and a great deal of time for play.

Our neighboring village of Philipsburg was also taking its maiden dip into the baseball pool about this time and by October 5, 1866, things had progressed to such a stage in both towns that it was decided to have a championship series and determine thereby whether Clearfield or Centre county produced the most expert ball tossers. The game was arranged for Clearfield on the afternoon of October 5th.

The Philipsburg team was styled the "Moshannon" Club and accompanied by a large number of rooters in wagons, buggies and on horseback made the 17 mile overland journey to Clearfield to meet our own who styled themselves the "Chinelaclamoose," that being the Indian name for Clearfield.

The two teams lined up as follows:

|                        | Outs | Runs |
|------------------------|------|------|
| J. P. Fairchild, c.    | 4    | 6    |

The umpire at this game was T. J. McCullough, while W. C. Foley, for Clearfield, and J. S. Funk, for Philipsburg, were "judges." S. J. Row was the official scorer for Chinelaclamoose and W. R. Fulton for Moshannon.

This game ended in a row, a dispute arising over a fly ball knocked by Adams and caught by J. B. Walters of the Clearfield team. Wagner of the visitors got into a scrap over it and the bad blood engendered interfered with the resumption of play.

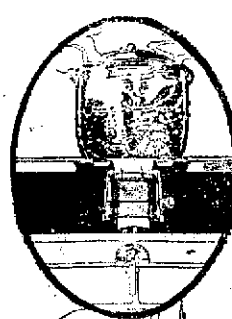

The official scorer attached the following note to the margin of the page on which the score of the game was kept: "A dispute arose in reference to a fly ball knocked by No. 9 of Moshannon Club and caught by No. 8 of Chinelaclamoose, the former refusing to play out the game even after the latter yielded the point." Two men were out in the ninth inning when the dispute arose.

Scorer Row had a list of "abbreviations" or rules for scoring written down in his book and we give them herewith for the purpose of comparison with present day rules and to show the extra opportunity for dispute. They were:

- A—for 1st base.
- B—for 2d base.
- C—for 3d base.
- H—for home base.
- P—for catch on the fly.
- D—for catch on the bound.
- L—for foul ball.
- T—for foul tip.
- K—for struck out.
- R—for run out between bases.
- HR—for home run.
- LT—for foul ball or fly.
- LD—for foul ball on bound.
- TF—for foul tip on the fly.
- TD—for foul tip on the bound.

MAN KITTY GORDON SHOT WILL RECOVER

CHICAGO, June 26.—Joseph A. Hack, a vaudeville actor, who was accidentally shot on a theatre stage here by Kitty Gordon, was out of danger today. Hack was standing in the wing and was shot in the right arm and side. Miss Gordon thought there were blank cartridges in her gun. Jack Wilson, Miss Gordon's stage manager, took the blame for the accident. He said he used the revolver when off the stage for protecting Miss Gordon's jewelry and had changed the shots for what he thought to be blanks. Hack, manager of an athletic act, said today he would sue Wilson.

SHORT ROUTE TO TYRONE

A very interesting meeting of prominent citizens of Tyrone, who are interested in good roads, and the commissioners of Blair county, Messrs. Jersuch, Selwitz and Murphy, with county Engineer David McCloskey, was held at the Arlington house where he present unfinished condition of that is known as the Janesville pike was discussed. The Blair county commissioners, about three years ago, built seven miles of this mountain road leading from Tyrone, leaving a little more than a mile to be completed to the Clearfield county line. Clearfield commissioners have yet four miles to build to complete the road. After the matter was discussed the commissioners and county engineer were conveyed by automobile, accompanied by D. S. Kloss and E. E. McClintock to the Campbell place at the top of the mountain where, by arrangements made by Mr. McClintock, they met the Clearfield county commissioners, Messrs. Dale, Weimer and Farrell, and the party proceeded to Madron, where plans were made for completion of the road, operations to commence about the middle of July. When done, this picturesque route from Tyrone to Janesville can be travelled by automobile in thirty minutes, while at the present time persons traveling the mountain road are compelled to go to Osceola and detour by way of Houtzdale.—Tyrone correspondent, in Altoona Mirror.

OFFICER KNOCKED DUBOIS CITIZEN FLAT ON HIS BACK

The spectacle of a special police

officer, stationed at the busiest corner of DuBois, hitting a citizen a wallop that knocked the last named flat on his back on the concrete pavement was witnessed yesterday afternoon when Special Officer Jefferys landed on George Willard with this result. Mr. Willard had come down the avenue in his car and it is alleged thru a mixup of signals had come across the crossing before the officer had given en the signal. It is alleged that some words were exchanged at that time. Later Mr. Willard had gone in to the bank and transacted some business; he accosted the officer again and a few words were exchanged. Just what was said no one knows but the two themselves. Suddenly the officer hauled off with his fist and caught Mr. Willard on the point of the jaw, sending him to the pavement and jarring loose several teeth. The entire episode required only a moment and was so quickly over that not even a crowd was collected. It is probable that legal action will follow as a result of the incident.

John Maloney of Fourth street, who was recently operated upon for appendicitis at the Clearfield Hospital, is getting along finely at this writing.
